

Florida Society for Histotechnology

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Elections | Membership Renewal | HT/HTL Prep Course

Elections

For the upcoming biennial elections of the FSH 2024-2026 Board of Directors. We are looking for a Histotechnologist who can lead us effectively into the technological era, fostering growth in our profession. Your nominations play a crucial role in shaping the future leadership of our society.

2024 Membership

Renew/Update your membership to propel your professional advancement by linking you with forefront leaders reshaping the landscape of Histotechnology. As a member, you become part of a team dedicated to providing top-notch education, championing the causes that impact our daily responsibilities, and actively striving to elevate the entire field of Histotechnology.

HT/HTL Prep Course

FSH will be presenting HT/HTL certification readiness workshop in Spring 2024.

Dear Friends and Colleagues of the Florida Society for Histotechnology,

As the year 2023 swiftly progresses, it seems like there is never enough time in the day. We trust that your summer has been enjoyable, and that this year has brought you fulfillment. It is with great anticipation that we provide you with an update on our recent endeavors and forthcoming plans.

We are pleased to note the remarkable success of our HT/HTL prep course held in February. This event drew participants from across the country and as far as South America, creating a diverse and vibrant learning environment. The positive response has been heartening, as many attendees have achieved their long-sought goal of passing the examination. This achievement has been made possible by the affordability and quality of the course, and we remain committed to providing accessible educational opportunities.

Looking ahead, we are excited to announce our upcoming QIHC prep course. Keep an eye out for the sign-up details, as this course promises to be another enriching experience for those seeking to elevate their expertise.

In May, we achieved a significant milestone by hosting our first in-person annual meeting since the pandemic's onset. This one day educational event was made all the more memorable by the incredible support of our vendors and the enthusiastic participation of attendees. We extend our heartfelt gratitude to the administration of Keiser University for their generosity in granting us the use of their campus. This event was a testament to the resilience and unity of our community.

We must emphasize that the triumphs of our society would remain elusive without the unwavering dedication of our members and the tireless efforts of our Board of Directors. As we approach the New Year, we urge you to renew your membership in January. By doing so, you contribute to our collective advocacy for the advancement of our profession.

Reflecting upon my tenure as President over the past two terms fills me with immense pride. As we approach the upcoming elections, I eagerly anticipate the opportunity to mentor our incoming president. If you have ever contemplated running for office or wish to collaborate with a dynamic and passionate group of individuals, we welcome your application and encourage you to join our ranks. And, of course, please exercise your right to VOTE!

With gratitude for your continued support,

Christie Gowan, HT(ASCP)^{CM}
President, Florida Society for Histotechnology

